Rooms to Go Signs Lease for Atlanta Headquarters Relocation

Atlanta – July 16, 2020 – CBRE is pleased to announce that Rooms to Go has signed a lease for 60,000 square feet at Perimeter Summit in Atlanta, Georgia. This lease will mark a relocation of the Atlanta headquarters for the company.

Bryan Heller and Sabrina Gibson with CBRE in Atlanta, as well as Randy Holmes and Andrew Pearson of Seven Oaks Company, represented the landlord. David Rubenstein, John Flack and Bo Keatley of Savills represented Rooms to Go.

Perimeter Summit is located at 4004 Summit Boulevard in the Central Perimeter submarket of Atlanta, its largest office submarket. Other notable tenants located at Perimeter Summit include IBM, Cox Automotive, Northside Hospital and Verizon. Perimeter Summit offers nearly 1.7MSF of Class A office space in an 83-acre mixed-use setting.

“We are thrilled to welcome Rooms to Go to our high-quality tenant mix at Perimeter Summit,” says Bryan Heller, Senior Vice President at CBRE. “Recently we have seen considerable interest from companies shifting their focus to a more suburban location in an effort to be located closer to their workforce. Perimeter Summit’s amenity base and, more importantly, its expansive outdoor areas, align well with how employees may prefer to utilize the workspace as they begin their return to the office.”

“We are excited about our move to Perimeter Summit,” says Jeff Seaman, CEO of Rooms To Go. “Our associates are looking forward to enjoying the amenities of the office park, and we believe that our new office environment will help us recruit additional talented associates as we grow our Atlanta headquarters significantly over the next several years.”
